Against medical advice form in spanish

against medical advice interpreter as you write in the world's leading quality drag and drop documents Translate now Some studies of discharge against physician advice (AMA) general hospitals report a prevalence of between 0.7-7% 11-42% of this population identified as psychiatric patients. To investigate the sociological and psychopathological properties of patients who leave the AMA, we did a retrospective case check benchmarking of the length of hospitalization and the presence of psychiatric disorders in patients who left the AMA University General Hospital in Catalan in Spain within two years. An analysis of the hospital's epidemiological discharge register and retrospective map for the presence of psychiatric disorders found that the AMA prevalence was 0.34%, with a total discharge of 41,648 over a two-year period. AMA rates in the medical department were 0.44% in the internal medicine department; 0.24% surgery; 0.26% for orthopaedic surgery, 0.32% for obstetrics-gynecology and 0.93% for rehabilitation. The mean age of AMA patients was 38.63 years, with a higher number of men (59.9%). A total of 45.8% of AMA emissions came from the Department of Internal Medicine. No significant differences in the average length of the hospital were found between the AMA and the control group. The incidence of psychiatric pathology was significantly higher in the AMA group (P<it;.05). The prevalence of AMA in our hospital was low compared to the rates reported in the literature. A patient who is at high risk of AMA discharge is a young man with a history of psychiatric pathology, mainly drug addiction. These examples may contain rude words based on your search.
